

Essen Spiel 2012: Ares Games releases Aztlán and Lords of Middle-earth

The new Colovini's strategy game and the first expansion for War of the Ring Second Edition will be available at the show for the first time

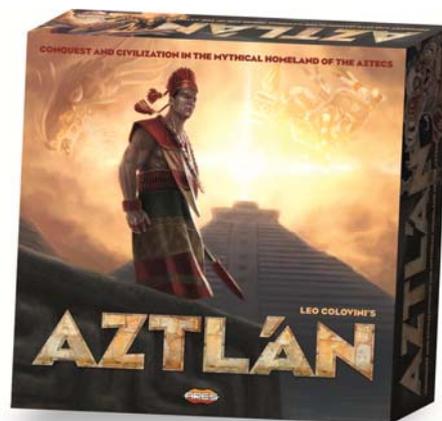

Camaiore, Italy, October 2012 - Ares Games will be present at the Essen Spiel 2012 (October 18-21, in Germany) with two new games – Aztlán, a Euro-style strategy game of conquest and civilization designed by Leo Colovini, and Lords of Middle-earth, the first expansion for War of the Ring Second Edition. In the Ares Games booth (Hall 12, booth 42), there will be demos of Aztlán and the two new products will be available for purchase – in the case of Lords of Middle-earth, people buying a copy at the game fair will get the promotional mini-expansion Treebeard for free. The newest and upcoming releases WW1 and WW2 Wings of Glory will also be showcased in the booth.

At the show, Ares Games will also have these games presented by international partners. Demos of the new titles and Wings of Glory are planned at Heidelberger Spielverlag booth, for German players, while at the Red Glove booth it will be possible to buy the new releases in their English version.

Aztlán is the first title in the Euro Games category published by Ares Games. Designed by Leo Colovini, the game is easy to learn but with a very deep strategy, and it goes beyond the classic Euro-style concept as it features direct conflict between players

In the mythical land of Aztlán, ancestral home of the Nahuatl (Aztec) people, four tribes strive to survive and prosper, under the scrutiny of the Aztec Gods themselves. The game develops during five different ages. Players try to conquer the largest realm, using an intriguing and highly interactive mechanic. In each age, the tribes have uneven and secret strengths, so the players' strategy must be based on intuition and bluff. When winning a conflict, they must choose between eliminating their enemies or deciding to co-exist with them. Peaceful co-existence brings the opportunity to develop their own civilization and gain future advantages, but can they trust their opponent?

Aztlán is a game for 3 to 4 players, with a variant for 2 players. The English edition of the game will be on sale at Essen Spiel'12 both at Ares Games' booth and Red Glove's booth (Hall 9, b. 56), at the suggested retail price – $ 49,90 (€ 39,00). The game has also a German edition published by Heidelberger Spieleverlag, and an Italian edition, by Red Glove.
